Foreword

Well welcome back to round two! It's great having you all here. Once again we've been hard at work this past year bringing things together. We hope you enjoy what we have prepared for you over this weekend. With a full day jam packed with convention activities, we also have our music gig, Rock Nessie, tomorrow at the splendid Cabaret Voltaire.

We do have additional rooms booked out here at the Hilton, so please do have a wander around. Go from panel to panel, workshop to card game, to vendor hall to games room. There's no staying still today.

As always, feel to ask a member of our volunteer team or the events committee for anything and we'll do our best to assist you. We encourage you all to take as many photos, videos and selfies as you can possibly take. Be sure to send them in during and after the event!

Meet The Mascots

Nessie

Nessie is an energetic mare who loves meeting new ponies. Her job and special talent is playing the bagpipes and she regularly busks around Edinburgh. She spent her childhood years growing up in Scotland, but since her family moved to London because of her father's job, her teenage years weren't exactly the most pleasant. London did teach her a lot, but she yearned to return to Scotland and the second she turned 18 she ran back as quick as she could. Nessie is secretly a unicorn, under that bushy mane of her's is a horn!

Angus

Nessie's brother is an aspiring writer. He was luckily able to miss his family's move to London as he had just started University in Edinburgh at the time. He spends a lot of his time in coffee shops writing. He has a new idea for a children's book about a magical school but Warner Bros sent him a C&D before he could finish his coffee. He finds himself in various embarrassing cosplay situations thanks to his sister, that he may or may not enjoy.

Cobbler Command

Cobbler is an events pony, hence his boots cutiemark. Since you know, when you go to a concert you need wellington boots else your socks will get muddy, and no one wants that. So it's up to a great events pony, such as Cobbler, to prevent your socks getting muddy. That is his purpose in life. His family is from India and his mum passed down some of the greatest family recipes .. Cobbler is of course an absolute heart-throb and the love of Nessie's life.

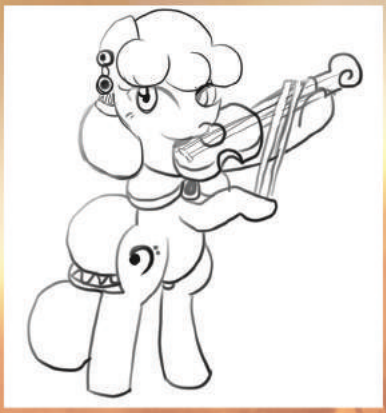

Meet The Mascots

Nessie's Father

Nessie's dad works for a big tech company in London. He's part of their secret police, which of course is a big secret, so don't tell anyone. Not even Nessie really knows what his exact job is, but she knows he's always working until late in the night and always has bags under his eyes. He used to work for Interpol as a detective, it's likely his current job involves much of the same work. He is a hard working pony. He doesn't show it, but he misses Scotland almost as much as Nessie did during her teenage years. He does at least make it back up for Christmas each year.

Nessie's Mother

She is renowned for playing the violin and disapproves of Nessie's bagpipe playing, believing them to be uncouth. Though being lower middle class she strives to maintain an upper class appearance. She is strict and very stern, but ultimately really does love her family and only wants to see them do well. She also has a strange obsession with gingerbread houses.

Bonnie Chancer

Bonnie Chancer is Nessie's older cousin on her father's side. She is extremely short since she is a shetland pony, who lives on the Shetland Isles. She spends most of her time complaining about stuff on tumblr. Though stubborn she is plagued with a great sadness that the Shetland Isles will never have a convention of their own. Someone once signed her up to receive promotional mail from 23 different pizza chains, 3 of which are in Hackney.

Merry Christmas
